The Steele Farm and its Former Owner.

From the Meadville Journal

Last week, a brief item chronicling the sale of the Steele Farm, on Oil Creek, for taxes due the government, started on its voyage on the sea of newspaperdom The paragraph will doubtless be read by many without a second thought, but those few lines might easily form the text for a discourse as lengthy as the moral law It is hardly an exaggeration to state that wherever petroleum is known, the name of Johnny Steele, the young oil prince of Venango county, has been heard, while the accounts of his apparently boundless wealth and reckless expenditures were told in hundreds of papers, from the N Y Herald down—or up Soon after the sale of the farm, the closing act, a brief history of the same may not be entirely without interest

This farm, more generally known "on the creek" as the widow McClintock farm, is immediately opposite the flourishing little town of Rouseville, and was among the first of the oil producing farms of the valley Early in 1863 the Van Slyke well on this farm was struck, and flowed for some time at the rate of 2,500 barrels per day, and several wells yielding from 300 to 800 barrels were struck at subsequent periods — Besides these, there were many smaller wells, and the territory, though sadly mismanaged, is still regarded as among the best in the oil region

In 1864, widow McClintock died from the effects of burns received while kindling a fire with crude oil At this time, the average daily income from the landed interest of the farm was $2,000, and by her will the property, with all her possessions in money, were left, without reservation, to her adopted son, John W Steele, then about twenty years of age In the iron safe where the old lady kept her money was found $150,000, two thirds of the amount in greenbacks and the balance in gold Mrs McClintock was hardly cold in her coffin before young Steele who appears to have had nothing naturally vicious in his composition, was surrounded by a set of vampyres, who clung to him as long as he had a dollar remaining The young millionaire's head was evidently turned by his good fortune, as has been that of many an older man who made his "pile in oil, and he was of the impression that his money would accumulate too rapidly unless it was actually thrown away, and throw it away he did

Many of the stories concerning his career in New York and Philadelphia savor strongly of fiction, and would not be credited, were they not so well authenticated Wine, women, horses, faro, and general debauchery soon made a wreck of that princely fortune, and in twenty months Johnny Steele squandered two millions of dollars Hon John Morrissey, M C, "went through" him at faro, to the amount of $100,000, in two nights, he bought high priced turn outs, and after driving round an hour or two, gave them away, equipped a large minstrel troupe and presented each member with a diamond pin and ring, and kept about him besides two or three men who were robbing him day after day He is now filling the honorable position of door keeper for Skill and Gaylord's minstrels, the company he organized, and is, to use a very expressive but not strictly classical phrase, completely "played out."

The wealth obtained by those who worked so assiduously to effect Steele's ruin, gave little permanent benefit to its possessors The person most brazen and chiefly instrumental in bringing about the present condition of affairs, was the notorious Seth Slocum, who hung around this city several weeks last summer He was worth at one time over $100,000, which he had "captured" from Steele, and laid aside for a rainy day, but when the latter's money vanished, this amount soon took unto itself wings, and he is at present known among his old associates as a "dead beat" At last accounts, Slocum was in concurrence in the jail of a neighboring county for various breaches of the peace, and was unable to obtain bail in the sum of $500 Exemplification these of the old adage, "easy come, easy go," or the other, "fools and their money are soon parted"

Gifts to Ladies at a Dinner.

From a New York Letter

I will now tell you something about a dinner which was given lately by one of our Wall street brokers A splendid succession of course, each surpassing its predecessor, was closed by a curious novelty Twenty ladies sat at a table, and as they rose a silver plate was placed before them, on which was a bouquet of the rarest and most beautiful flowers As the fair guests bent over in exultations of delight at the elegance of the gift, they discovered that a long, finely wrought gold chain was appended to each, and pendent to this was a cluster of jewels, the value in any case could not have been less than a thousand dollars! In Europe this thing is common, but in America it is so new that New York fashionables are all astir at it The husbands of the recipients were in some cases so angry that they compelled their wives to send their presents back The genuine old families are terribly scandalized by the innovation Meanwhile the hero of the banquet rides calmly, up and down Fifth avenue in his splendid turnout with nonchalant air, and looks as if he was decidedly inclined to repeat the sensation before long I might give you his name, but it is sufficient to say that he is very much interested in the Ford horse race course, and recently bought a splendid blood horse at a cost of $20,000

A HAUNTED HOUSE!

The Scene of a Murder Enacted Every Night.

From the St. Louis Democrat.

On the south side of St Charles street between Eleventh and Twelfth stands an old brick building of peculiar construction There are courts and corridors, winding stairs, obscure nooks, halls, quaint little chambers and nooks and corners innumerable. The building has the appearance of a castle, with a high wall around it, a sliding door in front, with a loop hole or look out, secured by iron bars The building forms a square with the west side open, and a yard or court in the centre It is a two-story house, and there are but one or two other buildings on the block Fronting the house on the north is a long strip of ground, boarded up and used as lumber yards At night the place has a gloomy appearance, and few persons will venture to pass in front of the old house at a late hour of the night, without a policeman for a guide or loaded revolver for a protector

In former years this house was occupied by a beautiful and well known courtezan, named Mary Henry, who flourished there for a dozen years or more, and was regarded as one of the most fashionable and fascinating of her class About the close of the rebellion the house became unoccupied Mrs Henry had retired to live in splendor in the East, on the fruits of her contraband profession

For some time the building has been occupied by colored families, who take in washing, work out, keep boarders, and make a living as best they can Among the occupants of the house was an old lady named Mrs Phillips, who lived in a room on the first floor of the south wing This Mrs Phillips was at first greatly annoyed by the strange noises heard by her every night, and although a constant repetition of the disturbance had the effect of quieting her fears, yet she was never perfectly at ease, and on yesterday removed to another locality This old colored woman says the house had the reputation of being haunted before she moved into it. Yet having a clear conscience she went to confession received absolution for the past, present and future, and boldly ventured in amongst the ghosts While sitting in her room at night she would hear footsteps softly approaching, the door would be thrown open but no object could be seen, whether spirit or mortal All the doors of the house have bolts on the inside, and Mrs Phillips would bolt her door securely, yet it would fly open at the approach of footsteps and sometimes close of its own accord She could hear footsteps ascending the stairs at all hours of the night, catch the rustle of silk dresses but never heard the sound of a human voice The door opening on the stairs would also unclose without any visible human agency, and the old lady was often deceived by the sound of persons coming down stairs but could never see them

These little annoyances were borne with Christian fortitude and soon became so common that they were not regarded But there was one scene enacted every night which always caused the old lady's blood to run cold This was the acoustic representation of a murder About 12 o clock at night a scuffle would be heard, a dull blow would sound in the corridor, a body would fall upon the floor, there would be a hurried trampling of feet and in a few minutes she would hear a noise like the dragging of a dead body through the hall out at the front door across the street and among the rubbish of the vacant lot just opposite

Mrs Phillips religiously believes that a horrible murder had been committed in the house, and if we remember rightly the bloody corpse of a stranger was found in the stone yard which formerly occupied the vacant lot The nightly repetition of this murder annoyed the old lady and she determined to move away

Mrs Phillips relates many other mysterious occurrences connected with the old house but we have not space to go into details Will not some of our spiritual friends make an examination of the premises and see what truth there is in the statements of the old colored woman?

Extensive Robbery in Wall Street—A Young Boy Decamps with $10,000 in Gold Bonds.

From the New York Herald.

Last evening information was lodged at the police headquarters that the firm of John Munroe & Co brokers, doing business at No 8 Wall street, had been swindled out of $10 000 by the dishonesty of a young man lately in their employ It appears from the information obtained last night, that on Wednesday last the above named firm sent a young man in their employ, about 16 years of age, but whose name is at present withheld to deposit in a certain bank a $10 000 gold bond It is alleged that in place of the young man proceeding to the bank he went to a saloon near by, where he made a false entry of the deposit in the bank book, forging the name of the receiving teller He then returned to the office and returned the bank book and soon after left the establishment since which time nothing has been seen or heard of him

Yesterday morning his employers, thinking his long absence rather strange, sent a messenger to his father's, where the young man resided, but his whereabouts could not be ascertained His father had presumed that he was visiting some relations in this city but upon inquiry nothing had been seen of him Yesterday afternoon the above firm sent their usual deposits to the bank, when the forgery was discovered The officers immediately suspected their absent clerk, and last evening lodged information at the police headquarters The young man is said to have been lately seen in company with another young man about the same age and it is presumed they have both gone off together No clue as to their whereabouts has yet been obtained

The Opera House as a Christmas Gift.

From the Chicago Republican

Of the various entertainments hitherto given in Crosby's Opera House—operatic, theatrical, political, or oratorical—none have ever approached in interest or excitement the assembly which will gather in its walls on the 21st of January next, when the distribution of premiums in the great Art Association, of which the splendid Opera House itself is the principal, will take place The occasion will be national in its interest, for there is scarcely a hamlet in the country, from the coast of Maine to the pleasant valleys of California, in which certificates of the Association are not held The result of the drawing will be awaited with far more anxiety than any news the telegraph will bring

In this season of holidays when young gentlemen are casting about them for suitable gifts for the divinities of their hearts, no more choice or appropriate present can be selected than a certificate of membership in the Association It carries with it a beautiful steel engraving—a thing of beauty, well adapted for a present to Beauty—beside the possibility it includes of giving the adored one a deed, in fee simple, to the costly Opera House itself, with all its pleasurable anticipations If your five dollar investment, Francis Augustus, should prove so fortunate as to thus richly endow your worshipped Aurelia, can the grateful fair refuse to give you, in turn, the gift you would would prize above all others—her own dear self, Opera House and all?

The "Old Pub. Func." Still Alive.

Ex President Buchanan is spending a few days in Philadelphia He converses freely on topics of general interest. Reference being made to the voluminous dispatches Secretary Seward is flooding the newspapers of the country with and which are given to the public without regard to the oft-times great interests at stake, Mr Buchanan condemned the practice, and said that Seward had exceeded in this line all his successors collectively He did not pretend to read them as sent to him officially, but depended upon the newspapers entirely to furnish the gist of what they contained

Mr Lincoln's assassination he thought one of the greatest calamities that had ever befallen the country He thought if Mr Lincoln had lived the country would have been reunited, and based his opinion upon Mr Lincoln's popularity and strength, which would have carried him successfully through any undertaking he might have attempted looking to that end In regard to Jeff Davis he was unable to form an opinion as to what disposal would be made of him He scouted at the idea of his being in any way implicated in the assassination of Mr Lincoln, which he had no doubt Jeff Davis regretted as sincerely as did a majority of the Southern people.

The District Suffrage Bill.

There is much satisfaction expressed by the radical press at the prompt passage of the District of Columbia Suffrage Bill. It is said the President declares his intention to veto it As it passed each House by more than a two thirds vote, it will be promptly passed over the veto The telegraphic report erred in saying the bill was amended by restricting suffrage to those who can read or write The amendment to that effect was rejected by, Ayes 11, Nays 34 The bill as passed confers suffrage on each and every male person, excepting paupers and persons under guardianship, of the age of twenty-one years and upward, who has not been convicted of any infamous crime or offense, and excepting persons who may have voluntarily given aid and comfort to the rebels in the late rebellion, and who shall have been born or naturalized in the United States, and who shall have resided in the District for the period of one year, and in the ward or district in which he shall offer to vote three months next preceding any election there in, shall be entitled to the elective franchise, and shall be deemed an elector and entitled to vote at any election in said District, without any distinction on account of color or race

"Old King Coal."

The Philadelphia Bulletin states that the statistics of the business of the year 1866, in Pennsylvania anthracite coal, are sufficiently advanced to make it an ascertained fact that the production has been nearly thirteen millions of tons This is nearly two millions eight hundred thousand tons more than the production of 1865 But for a depression in all kinds of business, during the last few months, and a consequent falling off in the demands for coal, the production of the year 1865 would have been larger than it is But thirteen millions is such an enormous quantity to be mined and sent to market in about half a dozen counties of one single State, that our people may truly throw up their hats in honor of King Coal

In 1820 the first anthracite coal of Pennsylvania was mined and sent to market It amounted to the modest quantity of three hundred and sixty five tons a year, or an average of about one ton a day The hard, black stone was a marvel, and people were incredulous about its ever being combustible enough or abundant enough to become valuable as a fuel or as an article of commerce. But in the very next year, over twenty three thousand tons were sent to market, and the increase has been steady ever since, until now, forty-six years after the first ton was sent to market, we have thirteen millions of tons mined every year Thousands of millions of dollars have been invested in the business during that time, hundreds of miles of railroad have been laid and relaid in the same service, while fortunes have been made and fortunes have been lost in the same service

ANECKA JANE—The expectant heir of Aneka Jane in this vicinity will be interested in hearing that one of her direct descendants has favored the public with a new version of her history She was a Dutch lady of property, who came over and vested her funds in the property in question The little episode of her marriage with Rocliff Jansen was not mentioned in her history But she was married to Dominie Bogardus, a pretentious and imposing divine of the antique school Unhappily for Aneka's peace of mind she discovered that the Dominie had another wife in Holland, and despite of divers devices to smooth the affair over by divorce, from the Dutch dean and ecclesiastical procedure, Aneka eventually set her face towards the Netherlands, leaving her estate as a perpetual ground of contention to succeeding generations of Jansens and Bogarduses without limit A genuine history of Aneka is a desideratum to the curious to be written by some one not interested in the claim, for we presume that a supposed title by pedigree would sadly warp the facts of a narrative

SLEIGHING—The pleasures of winter are beginning to be appreciated and enjoyed, and the good sleighing is attracting the attention of pleasure seekers generally. The heavy fall of snow which ushered in the first of the week has been well trodden in city and country, and the chime of sleigh bells is heard at all hours of the day and evening Of course the livery stables are well patronized, and every available "equipage" is in requisition.

NEW YEARS BALL—Messrs H. H. Carter and E D Dodge, proprietors of the new oyster house, opposite Brown Bros, Pleasantville, have issued invitation cards for a grand ball and supper, to be given on the evening of January 1st. Skinner's Hall has been engaged for the occasion and the supper will be prepared at the Union Hotel. Good music will be in attendance.

The Hickey Homicide.

John Hickey, the man who killed his wife on Tuesday night, by striking her with a billet of wood, was retaken to the lockup after the inquest and will be sent to jail at Meadville to-day, to await the action of the grand jury. He does not seem to exhibit much feeling upon the subject, but converses with perfect tranquility, and expresses no anxiety concerning his fate. He says the murder was not premeditated, he intended only to black her eye, to prevent her going into the streets, a practice he had formerly indulged in on such occasions, with the desired effect. He avers that his wife had been the ruin of the family; he seldom could get anything to eat at home, with regularity, and his children were totally neglected by the mother. She was in the habit of bartering almost everything he brought to the house for whisky—furniture, clothing, bedding, &c, usually carrying them to the filthy groggeries which principally subsist on that class of custom. The interior of the shanty in which the family lived was as unsightly and intolerably as a pig sty How human beings could have existed in such a habitation surpasses comprehension The children were scarcely covered by their rags, the youngest, a nursing babe, having only a single garment She was but three months old We learn that she was taken in charge by Mrs T Goodwin and suitably clothed It is to be adopted and permanently provided for by a gentleman and his wife who are without children. The next eldest, a girl three years of age, has been given in charge of the Sisters of Charity The boy, seven years old, a bright, intelligent lad, is at the house of Rev N Mignault, where he will remain for the present

While there are extenuating circumstances connected with this homicide which will mitigate the popular verdict of condemnation, we cannot but regard it as a most brutal atrocity

While the act of killing was not premeditated, it appears from Hickey's voluntary confession that he had fired his own passion with liquor and returned home with a view of maltreating his wife. There is no conceivable circumstance which can justify such extreme brutality as that of clubbing an insensible woman, drunk or sober—and whatever degree of palliation the past life and reputation of the victim serves to throw around the crime of homicide, the sanctity of human life demands the infliction of such a penalty as shall declare that it must not be heedlessly imperilled

M. E. Fair.

To-night the ladies of the M E Church open their Fair and Festival in Corinthian Hall, and we do not believe that any visitor will have reason to feel disappointed The Hall is splendidly decorated, the walls being festooned with evergreens, on one side bearing the inscription, "MERRY CHRISTMAS," and on the other, "HAPPY NEW YEAR" The sales tables are erected in the centre of the hall, and in the form of a hollow square, thus affording visitors ample room for a promenade in the outer circuit, or to occupy seats on either side of the hall The tables will contain a great variety of articles for use, beauty and adornment, tastefully arranged and attended by charming lady clerks from whom it will be a pleasure to purchase The refreshment tables will be supplied with delicacies to tempt the palate, and meals will be served at all hours during the sessions of the fair

At the entrance of the hall will be discovered a fanciful octagon bower, canopied with "the flag of our country," and wreathed with flowers and evergreens The interior exhibition will prove an irresistable attraction

Santa Claus will be ubiquitous, and laden with the most bewildering assortment of gifts, and those who wish to supply themselves in anticipation of the universal holiday, will have an opportunity to purchase at prices that will favorably compare with those asked elsewhere, and at the same time please themselves by patronizing a worthy object.

We noticed yesterday as among the specialities a Post Office, where "mail" and female will blend their attractions for the expected benefit of such as are expecting pleasant messages, and cannot bear disappointment A telegraph company has also been organized, and the wires will be in good working order to night This will be under the superintendence of Mr Lyons, who announces in The Fair paper that a reliable corps of telegraphers, clerks and messenger, has been secured, and promptness in the transaction of business is guaranteed.

The editors and proprietors of The Fair, the new daily paper, have added a "Job Printing" office to their establishment, and all who are in want of visiting cards can be accommodated in a "jiffy" Last and not least, a polling booth has been erected, and the lady receiving the highest number of ballots is to be presented with a splendid steel portrait of WASHINGTON, and a handsome pair of skates The gentleman receiving the highest number of votes will receive a portrait of MARTHA WASHINGTON, and a pair of gent's skates The originals of these portraits were captured from the Rebel General Lee The copies are 34 by 40 inches The frames are studded with acorns from the field of Gettysburg and Paradise nuts from the Holy Land

For further particulars of the entertainment, the reader is referred to the advertisement in another column, and also to The Fair newspaper, which will prove indispensable to those who wish to keep thoroughly posted We hope a numerous attendance and extensive sales will reward the efforts of the Committees having the exhibition in charge

FEARFUL RAILROAD ACCIDENT—The Pithole Record furnishes particulars of the fearful accident which occurred on the Warren & Franklin Railroad on Wednesday evening, caused by the breaking of a rail. The engine tender and baggage car, all passed over the broken rail in safety, but the first passenger car was thrown from the track and cast down an embankment of about thirty feet, the coupling connecting it and the second passenger car breaking and the latter remaining upon the track In going down the embankment the car made a complete somersaut and landed right side up at the bottom The passengers were all more or less bruised and some eight or ten out of the twenty five or thirty occupying the car were quite seriously injured, some it is thought fatally—though no one was killed outright

A Mr Horton, of Dayton, Cattaraugus county, N Y, was quite badly burned by coming in contact with the stove of the wrecked car, his clothing being burned off from him in many places, and his breast, hand and other parts of his body being badly injured by burns and bruises Mr Howe, of West Hickory, was burned still worse than Mr Horton and had one of his arms crushed. He was taken on to Oil City. These are the only names of those injured we have been able to obtain. We understand there were several quite badly injured in the second car which remained on the track. The manner in which this accident occurred was no more singular than that the passengers escaped without loss of life.

The Belles.

Hear the laughter of the belles—
Merry belles!
What an uncomfortable feeling their merriment compels!
How I shiver, shiver, shiver,
Lest my collar isn't right;
And my nerves begin to quiver,
Lest my waistcoat they stickeer
Isn't scrupulously white,
And they laugh, laugh, laugh,
As I fidget with my scarf,
For I dread the explosion that is so musically awaits,
From the belles, belles, belles, belles, belles, belles,
From the witty and the pretty cruel belles.

Hear the very learned belles—
Azure bellas!
What vast erudition their conversation tells!
Tis ought the quiet hours morning,
How laboriously they write,
With their pretty colored ink
And a golden pen!
How all manly spirits shrink
In their estimation; how inferior they think
Stupid men!
From the publisher a dark ceiling
What a lot of common-place volumes annually walls,
How it swells!
But never sells,
For the future rings in a knells,
Then what is it that impels
By the writing and inditing
Of the belles, belles, belles, belles, belles.
Belles, belles, belles,
To the shameful waste of inking of the belles?

Hear the loud amusing belles—
Brass bells!
What a tale of impudence their curious clamor tells!
Their characters are strong,
If you ask them for a song,
You only have to speak
And they shriek, shriek, shriek,
Out of tune
Now in clamorous appealing to Apollo's golden lyre,
Now in a lamentation mournful for Erin's broken lyre,
Sing a higher, higher, higher,
With a desperate desire,
And a resolute endeavor
Now—now to reach a hear never,
The pitch of the Nassau bell too

Oh the belles, belles, belles,
What a jar their treble tells
On the ear,
How the music stood they scarce,
How they clang and clash the keys
In despair
You give up all enjoyment for you certainly are right,
In concluding that you'll be compelled to listen all night
To the singing and the playing of the belles—
Oh the belles—
Oh the belles, belles, belles, belles,
Belles, belles, belles,
The clamor and clangor of the belles

PETROLEUM—Peters's Oil Circular contains the following

The oil market partakes of the general stagnation of business throughout the country Business interests await with much anxiety the action of Congress upon questions which vitally affect commerce The revision of our internal taxes and tariff system is looked for with mingled concern and curiosity, and no revival of trade is looked for till action upon these important questions assume some tangible shape, and our exports have been greatly curtailed by the present unsettled state of all Europe Petroleum is dull and inactive throughout the country We quote, 50@56@56 for prime white, to light straw and lemon, fire test ranging from 110 to 115 degrees

Notwithstanding the law that oils sold in this State should stand a fire test of 110 degrees, we see almost every day accounts of some one being burned to death by explosions of poor oils Naptha and Gasoline in moderate demand at 25c to 35c as to quality Oil at the wells ranges from $1 50@1 75@2 00 In New York crude has advanced 1c, closing at 19½c to 20c The exports of Petroleum from the United States from January 1st to December 8th, have been as follows 1866, 62 671,589 gallons, 1865 26 192 943 gallons, 1864, 31,201,791 gallons, 1863, 27 195-189 gallons Receipts at New York from January 1st to December 8th, have been as follows 1866, 1,107 207 barrels, 1866, 572,475 barrels Nominal European prices for refined, 1866

SKATING POND—Those of our citizens desirous of displaying their skill upon the "skates" will be pleased to learn that Mr J H Brass, Jr, has opened a fine skating pond at the head of Washington street The necessary accompaniments in the shape of sitting and cloak rooms are so located as to render indulgence in the sport a positive pleasure We understand that to day's proceeds are to be donated to the Howard Benevolent Association

The ice being in splendid condition we would recommend all who wish an hour's genuine enjoyment to visit the pond

Base ball being out of season we anticipate the formation of a skating club, which will possess the additional attraction of allowing the fair sex to participate

WINTER, the great necessitator of overcoats, called around yesterday and issued a manifesto for an immediate supply Not knowing where they were to be found in all the latest styles, he called on us, of the news, to give information relative to the same, whereupon we advised him to go to John J. Carter's on Franklin street, who is ready and is now offering his overcoat stock at cost—or New York wholesale prices, and as the stock is fast being depleted by the public, who are anxious to fit themselves out for the coming New Year, we enjoined friend Winter and all his tribe to call immediately. Winter being a curious chap and one who carries when he comes, at all times, wished us to inform him where he could dress up his boys in "Christmas toggery!" Of course we referred him to Carter's advertisement, which says that children's clothing is to be sold at cost, and we further assured old frosty winter that Carter meant cost when he said it, for as sure as you live, said we, our wife tried Carter's knock down prices and found that not only the prices suited but the children's suits were so nice, that our better half took two without a word—taking care, however, that she paid "stamps," for 'tis said that you cannot get those good things without the "rocks;" and this reminds us that Carter has been receiving lots of nice fixings, that make capital Christmas gifts and New Year's presents, all of which Carter sells cheap, but not at cost Overcoats and children's clothing only at cost But he has just received a fine lot of underwear which beat anything in the line of low prices Just read and grow fat

Undershirts and drawers for seventy-five cents to one dollar and a half a piece or pair, and grades of all kinds to meet the wants of the few children, both in price, style, and texture!

We had forgotten to call attention to the splendid assortment of hats and caps, new fur caps caps and collars, with an untold number of other styles, made to fit the small and great, either of high or low caste, or, or, and so forth Call at CARTER'S for your Gents' Furnishing.

THE AVANT COURIER of St Nicholas has arrived and established his headquarters, where he has opened out an extensive assortment of Holiday goods, for both old and young, with a scale of prices graduated to the abilities of all classes of our citizens Such an array of things, rare and beautiful, for ornament, use or improvement, has never before been seen in Titusville as may now be found at Stein & Phelps', No 35 Spring street

COAL REDUCED TO $4 PER TON, NOTWITHSTANDING THE FACT THAT SOME PEOPLE CAN'T SEE IT"—Bain & Copeland are the sole agents for Spear's Anti dust Parlor Stoves Read the following

I have in use two "Oriental Stoves," and after comparing them with many others I have tried I am of the opinion I can have the same amount of heat with one half the coal and they take less time to keep in order for burning O KEEFE

November 19, 1866

FRIEND EDDY I purchased, about two years since, two of the "Oriental Stoves," one for our store in New York and one for Titusville, and will say for warmth, economy and durability it excels any stove I ever used, and assure all of my friends who want to purchase an "Oriental" that they will not be disappointed

CHARLES S ARCHER

I have used in my house for one year the "Oriental Stove" and it has given perfect satisfaction

Having been overpersuaded to try one of "Spear's Anti dusters" and after giving it a fair test, I am fully convinced that it leaves no impression to the "Oriental" In fact, it is in my opinion an extravagant and almost worthless piece of furniture CLARK EWING

I have used two of the "Oriental Stoves" in my hotel for one year with perfect satisfaction one in the office and one smaller size in the sitting room and I think for economy and convenience they cannot be surpassed F C PENDLETON

MESSRS F H EDDY & CO I have used an "Oriental" in my house for about a month and am very much pleased with it A fire was kindled in it when I first got it, which has never gone out It gives out heat to the needs replenishing but once in twenty four hours and gives just as much or just as little heat as we require I think it may be fairly termed an "Anti duster," for it makes no dust, but my coal at six eleven dollars and one half a ton in spite of all I can do R spectfully yours, CHAS H SMITH

TITUSVILLE, Nov 10th, 1866

F H EDDY & CO—Gents I can cheerfully recommend your "Oriental" From actual experience I can safely say it makes the most cheerful fire, uses the least coal and gives MORE heat than any stove I ever saw or used, and is certainly the most economical Yours truly, F C SANDERSON

MESSRS F H EDDY & CO I have used the "Oriental" the last year and think it the best coal stove in use I have one of the "Anti dusters" It is a good stove, but no comparison to the "Oriental" in comfort durability and economy. I would not part with the "Oriental" on any consideration Z MARTIN

MESSRS F H EDDY & CO—Gents I purchased of you over a year ago one of the Oriental Stoves, size No 11, and have used it constantly when the weather required, ever since I am at any that it has more than fulfilled my expectations For economy, convenience and cheerfulness it is the best stove in the whole country I kept my room warmed all through last winter with a smaller amount of coal than ever before and the fire did not go out but twice during the whole winter

Yours truly, ALFRED W COCHRAN

Titusville, Nov 13th, 1866

MESSRS F H EDDY & CO—Gents After some persuasion on the part of many of our friends we were induced to try one of the "Oriental Stoves," and accordingly ordered one of you size No 12 We find it to rather exceed the high encomiums put out by our friends The heat with a small fire was so intense yesterday that we were actually driven out We think we shall have to change it for one of the small size

Yours truly, CASTLE BROS

Titusville, Nov 19, 1866

We are using an "Oriental Stove" in our office and are very much pleased with it we think it the best heater and most economical stove [illegible] ever used and would recommend it to all our friends who want the best stove GIBBS WHEELER & RUSSELL

I have used for the past year in my house at Jamestown, one of "Spear's Anti dust or Cool Stoves" and an "Oriental Coal Stove" and found from actual experience that the "Oriental Stove" of same size consumes at least one third less coal and gives more heat than the "Anti duster" The "Anti duster" was a good stove until I got an "Oriental," when I found that it was of no account by the side of the "Oriental" The difference between the two kinds of stove is simply this That the "Oriental" runs itself and requires but little coal and will keep constant and steady fire for months, while the Anti duster requires constant care, frequent replenishing of fuel, gives an uneven heat and consumes considerably more coal and will get clogged up and go out and has to be tended with as much care as a baby I have thrown out the "Anti duster" and given it away and put up an "Oriental" in its place and I have made money in the operation O H AMES

Snow's Patent Liquid Packing Pump for OIL WELLS—This celebrated Pump' having been most successfully and generally used in the oil regions of Pennsylvania, and having a fame unsurpassed for its durability and wear, and the general good results of its application, doing away with leather and all other flexible packing, thereby avoiding the perplexities of a leather packing valve, and having all the advantages of other pumps and valves in bringing and keeping up the product of oil, I take pleasure in announcing to the public that I am now prepared to furnish any demand for these Pumps at the shortest notice Below I give a few of the numerous testimonials I have received in their favor, and also "by permission" refer for information as to their durability, and general good results to H W Fuller, Superintendent of Philadelphia Petroleum Company, using them in every pumping well belonging to the Company, W Rauch Superintendent of Rouse 23, Bennet off Run J P Fowler, Superintendent of New York & Chicago Petroleum Company, C L I Wright, Church Run, Wm Spence, Bennehoff Run, Mr J Hoops, Superintendent of Bennehoff Run Petroleum Company, F J Pitcher, Superintendent of National Oil Company C H Page, Superintendent Ocean Oil Company

TESTIMONIALS

WEST PITHOLE, Pa, Nov 21, 1866

WILLIAM B SNOW Dear Sir In answer to your request for my experience with your pump, I cheerfully state that I have used one of them for about two months and have found them entirely reliable, having performed all the strong encomiums that was claimed for it

The entire absence of leather packing and consequent lessening of friction in the working barrels makes the return on the rods much less, which is a great consideration in pumping deep wells and I cheerfully recommend it to all who have the same

Yours truly, RUFUS DUTTON,
Superintendent National Oil Company

FRANKLIN FIRE RUN Nov 21, 1866

W B SNOW—Dear Sir In reply to yours, asking for a certificate of merit as to the use of your pump on this farm I cheerfully certify that on the 15th of August last I applied one of your pumps to well 26, belonging to the Rouse Run Petroleum Company, which had been running four weeks with a brass working barrel and strap about forty barrels a day On the application of the "Snow Pump" the well increased to over one hundred barrels per day, and has been pumping at that rate ever since without ever having drawn the rods to this date

I also certify that I have three of your pumps in my own wells, viz Nos 51, 34 and 4, which have work ed to my entire satisfaction giving little or no trouble in drawing sucker rods No 34 is this morning producing at the rate of one hundred barrels per day

Yours, very truly, WM SPENCE

Orders for these Pumps will be filled by addressing BRYAN DILLINGHAM & CO Sole Manufacturers, Titusville Pa, and forwarded by express to all parts of the oil region

Dr. Schenck's Pulmonic Syrup.—This great medicine called Dr Schenck, the Proprietor, of Pulmonary Consumption, when it had assumed its most formidable aspect and when speedy death appeared to be inevitable His physicians pronounced his case incurable when he commenced the use of this simple but powerful remedy His health was restored in a very short time and no return of the disease has been manifested, for all the symptoms quickly disappeared and his present well health is more than two hundred pounds

Since his recovery he has devoted his attention exclusively to the cure of Consumption and the diseases which are usually complicated with it and the cures effected by his medicines have been very numerous and truly wonderful Dr Schenck makes professional visits to several of the larger cities weekly, where he has a large concourse of patients, and it is truly astonishing to see the poor consumptives that have been lifted out of their refuges, and in a few months healthy robust persons DR SCHENCK'S PULMONIC SYRUP, SEAWEED TONIC and MANDRAKE PILLS are generally all required in curing Consumption Full directions accompany each, so that any one can take them without seeing Dr Schenck, but when it is convenient it is best to see him He gives advice free but for a thorough examination with his Respirometer it is for which he charges

I leave it to serve, when purchasing, that the two like nesses of the Doctor—one when in the last stage of Consumption, and the other as he now is in perfect health—are on the Government stamp

Sold by all Druggists and Dealers Price $1 50 per bottle, or $7 50 the half dozen Letters for advice should always be addressed to Dr Schenck's Principal Office, No 15 North 6th street, Philadelphia, Pa

Titusville Morning Herald.

All Sorts.

A young lady of Muscoutah, Ill., recently drank half a glass of highly concentrated lye, which she had poured from a jug supposed to contain cider. Powerful emetics were instantly given, and saved her life.

The editor of Good Words asked Miss Mulock the other day to write a tale for him, and she replied she would do so if he liked, but not for a less sum than eight thousand five hundred dollars in gold.

Mr. George Brown intimated to Mr. D'Arcy McGee, in answer to the quarrelsome note of the latter, that he, McGee, is perfectly welcome to hold him (Brown) responsible for articles in the Toronto Globe, either "personally, editorially, or any other way in which he has a mind to hold himself."

The Zanesville (Ohio) Courier says: "A young lady, while promenading the streets some days ago, suddenly fainted, was picked up and carried into a dwelling house near at hand, where a physician was summoned who removed only eleven pairs of stocking legs and one pair of hose before he succeeded in restoring circulation through her calves and bringing them back to a state of sensibility.
